

Expected courses of study from Guilford Christian Academy.
August 7, 2006

In the primary grades it is expected by GCA that your commitment will be primarily on the fundamentals of academics, reading, writing and arithmetic. You should also be incorporating the preliminary studies of history, science and current events/social studies. This is taking into consideration that your primary responsibility is to raise your child in the fear and admonition of the Lord.

Once your child reaches those intermediate years that the government schools call Jr. High, and on into High School your focus should shift to advanced studies. Including more in depths looks at math, science and literature and their research into social/political and economic policies and views that shape the way this world works.

The government's requirements may change over the years and we must be diligent in staying in compliance, however, our goal should always surpass any that the government lays out for us.

We have worked hard this year to offer our graduates official diplomas. If you will need one for your graduate the cost is $25 per diploma, we would like to know by the end of 2008 so that we can have them all made up and ready for May.

Thank you for being part of our school, may the Lord bless you in your homeschooling.
